Elmer Jones House
Jonesville Community
Private

1915-1925

This two story house with a balanced, three bay facade was built by its owner, Elmer Jones, the grandson of one of the founders of the Black landowning community of Jonesville. The design of this frame house with its gable roofline accented by a cross gable pediment was in keeping with the style popular to the time and represents the transition from the earlier and plainer log houses, the type in which Elmer Jones was raised.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This handsome two story frame house stands on the southwest side of the present-day Jonesville Road. In early days, it stood on the west side of the original road. The house is larger now due to several additions over the years, but the original structure can still be clearly seen and the entire site is well maintained by the current occupants/owners.

The house faces south. It stands a full two stories in height and has a three bay facade containing a door centrally located, flanked by a window on either side, creating the balanced facade so popular to the turn of the century in the rural communities. The frame was sheathed with weatherboards, which are painted white. Trim boards accent the corners. The windows contain double hung sashes with two over two lights. The cornices are boxed, and their line is broken with sharply pitched cross gable pediment. Through the center of the roof ascends a brick stove flue.

Additions to the house include a one story section along the entire facade and a smaller one story room with a shed roof along the east gable end. A similar addition was attached to the northwest corner of the house.

The interior contained two rooms down and two up. The east room downstairs was the kitchen and the other, the living room, according to Elmer Jones' widow, Hannah Jones. The two rooms upstairs were bedrooms.

The outbuildings of the house included the hen house and privy behind the house (north), and hog pen at a further distance. A smoke house stood in front of the kitchen. There was also an orchard with apple and pear trees, according to Mrs. Jones, and the family used to store the apples and pears in bins of straw in their cellar.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

As part of this survey, a photograph of MARIA E. Peters Jones, mother of Elmer Jones, was copied. She was sister of John Peters, the blacksmith in Martinsburg. Also copied was photo of Elmer Jones + his 1st wife, Nora E. Hall Jones.

This land has been owned by a member of the Jones family since 1866. In deed EBP 3/313, Erasmus Jones purchased 9 1/8 acres (of which this one acre is a portion, today's parcel CT 43 P. 635) from Thomas Hall in 1866. In 1911, William P. Jones acquired it at a tax sale (224/143), and in 1913, Elmer Jones purchased one acre of that 9 1/8 acres for this house. The property remains in the possession of his descendants.

According to Hannah Jones, her husband built this house when he was in his late twenties or early thirties. This was during his first marriage. This would make the construction of this house to be approximately 1915-1925 since he was born in 1888. Probably the house was built soon after Jones purchased the land in tract in 1913, so 1915 is a good estimate. The house is representative of the type built by the more prosperous landowners of that period in Black communities throughout the county and the state.

According to Mrs. Jones, her husband built this house with the help of his father and nephew. Elmer Jones was a carpenter, stone mason, bricklayer, and cement finisher -- a jack of all trades. The principal significance of this house is that it was built by him and is a personal statement of his carpentry skills, economic means, and design concepts.

Elmer Jones was born in 1888, the son of Henry Jones, and was raised in the double log cabin nearby in Jonesville. His paternal grandfather was Richard Jones, whose house also still stands (See the Jones-Hall house). The identity of Erasmus Jones and his relation to this line of Jones is not yet known. Perhaps he was the brother of Richard Jones.

Elmer Jones is listed in the 1900 census of Montgomery County as the son of John Henry Jones and Maria E. Jones. His father was born in 1853 and mother in 1858. There was no mention of Erasmus Jones in the census nor of Richard and Rachel Jones. See the attached research notes.

Elmer Jones' second wife was Hannah Tibbs from the Big Woods community in Montgomery County. See the Big Woods Sites for more details about the Tibbs family.

As part of this survey, the family photographs of Elmer Jones were copied. They were: Maria E. Peters Jones, mother of Elmer Jones, daughter of John Peters, from Martinsburg whose house has been surveyed. Elmer Jones and his first wife, Nora Hall Jones, granddaughter of Levin Hall of Jonesville. She was raised in the Jones-Hall house, so this Jonesville community was indeed home to her.
